

Author Guidelines

Focus and scope. The Diamond Open Access peer-reviewed scholarly journal Parliamentary Studies was established in 2004 and is published by the Martynas Mažvydas National Library of Lithuania. Its purpose is to gather researchers and encourage studies in the fields of democratic governance, parliamentarism and political culture. The journal gathers political analysts, historians, sociologists, researchers in linguistics and law as well as authors within the discipline of political communication.

Structure of the Manuscript. The journal accepts manuscripts written only in English. The manuscript text file should contain elements that are requisite for a research work: (a) introduction indicating the relevance, goal, objectives, method, and sources of the research as well as scope of previous research into the subject; (b) the part presenting the theoretical and / or empirical research; (c) conclusions; (d) footnotes; and (e) literature. The parts can have titles and subtitles. The submissions are subject to double-blind peer-review by two scholars.

The manuscript's text should be presented in the following order:

- author's name and surname;
- author's institutional affiliations;
- e-mail address;
- ORCID iD;
- title;
- abstract in English (no more than 1,000 characters (with spaces));
- keywords in English (from 3 to 7 words);
- the main text (from 0.75 to 2 author's sheet);
- references to literature and sources should be given at the bottom of the page following the examples below:
